We had a new team member join partway into this week. We continued with primary interviews and deep-dive research. One interview was held with an expert on mixed reality on Monday.

Pending Issues

We had a couple of members sick or otherwise absent this week--generally scheduling is still our greatest challenge, as everyone is fairly busy.

Plans for Upcoming Reporting Period

Our deep-dive research needs to be completed by next Tuesday--primary interviews can continue longer depending on experts' availability. With an additional member, we need to decide if we are splitting to focus on implementing two projects or remaining as one.
